

Privacy Policy and Cookies

We understand that privacy is very important and therefore this policy has been applied to all websites owned and maintained by the organisation. Our policy is to maintain and ensure that all personal information received through the site remains confidential and will only be used for internal purposes and will not be shared with third parties at any time unless permission has been provided.

Please note that our Privacy Policy may be altered or amended periodically so we do suggest that you revisit and review the Privacy Policy so that you understand and familiarise yourself with the most up-to-date version.

The Information You Provide

Please note that sites owned and maintained by us may contain links to other sites and therefore we are not responsible for the content or privacy policies of these sites. We would recommend that you read and acknowledge the privacy policies of these sites as it may be different to ours.

How We Use the Information

The personal information you provide will not be distributed amongst third parties unless permission is received from you first. The information you provide will only be used as part of a statistical audit of the site which will be for internal use only. This information will help us continuously improve the service and content provided on all our websites. Any information used will not be of a nature so that you will be identified, for example, percentage of individuals who are male etc.

Cookies

Information can be collected in a variety of ways some of which is the use of cookies. These are tiny bits of information which are stored on the hard drive of your computer. Browsing patterns and activity of users can be tracked by using cookies which have now become common place within the industry.

Cookies can be turned off via browsers but this may lead to restriction or possible delay of navigation of the site. In order to do this, please check your browser's help options.

Communications

Communication which is sent from users to us via e-mail will be retained which will enable us to effectively respond to any enquiry thus improving the service we are able to offer to all our users.

Links to Sites

Please note that sites owned and maintained by the us may contain links to other sites and therefore we are not responsible for the content or privacy policies of these sites. We would recommend that you read and acknowledge the privacy policies of these sites as it may be different to ours.

Opt-Out Policy

We allow users to opt out of receiving further communication from the organisation via options within each communication sent. Alternatively please send an e-mail stating your name and e-mail address to: info@jesoloholidays.net

Website Related Questions

If you do have any questions you would like to ask regarding the above policy or the website as a whole, info@jesoloholidays.net